

Stargazing...there's an app for that

At a bonfire on the beach in Corpus Christi Texas recently, I discovered there is an app for identifying stars and constellations in the sky. A friend of my niece showed me how his phone could pick out and label the constellations just by holding his phone up to the star lit sky...

I am not sure what app or type of phone he was using that night, but I found this free app SKY VIEW for iPhones, I pads or Ipods. Very cool, as I love to stargaze. For the best viewing, be sure to go somewhere that light pollution does not interfere with viewing of the stars.

This is something we are able to do at our cottage where the night sky is pitch dark and it feels like you can reach up and touch the stars in the velvety sky.

Let me know if you download such an app and how it works for you...

Please be sure to visit my other blogs:

Laugh out loud (LOL) with me at YOUR DAILY CHUCKLE

and

be inspired and motivated by famous words of wisdom at Wow

My gardening website can be viewed at www.gardens4u.ca